ARMS ISSUE MAY LEAD TO NEW STRIKE AT CANTON

Merchant Volunteers Mobilize In Suburbs

AWAIT DECISION

Sun Yat-sen To Give Ruling On Question

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, August 19.—Apropos of the arms question, Dr. Sun Yat-sen is expected to give the government's reply to the Merchants' Volunteer Corps regarding the transfer of the arms and ammunition. In the mean time, the Merchants' Volunteer Corps has removed its headquarters to Foushan in the suburbs of Canton where its forces are being concentrated to prepare against an emergency. In case the Government fails to give a reply satisfactory to the Merchants' Volunteer Corps, it is likely that a general strike will be carried out throughout the City of Canton. In view of these circumstances the Government has stationed military guards under the command of General Wu Tieh-cheng at important points in the city and the situation here is thus beginning to assume a grave aspect.

It was when taking off for Frederiksdal that one machine broke its bracing bar and the second broke its propeller. The mishaps were due to the load of petrol and oil being the heaviest since the start of the flight.

Big Reception To Chinese Students Leaving For U. S.

Excellent Gathering And Forceful Speeches At Union Club

At the Union Club last night a big reception and dance was given in honor of the students of the Tsing Hua College and other institutions who are leaving for America on August 22. There was a big assembly, with probably two hundred persons present, and a splendid spirit prevailed.

Mr. Jabin Hsu, Chief Sub-Editor of THE CHINA PRESS, who is Vice-President of the American University Club, was Chairman, and opened the reception with a speech in behalf of his club. Mr. Hsu referred to the organisation of his club in 1908 as a common meeting-ground for American and Chinese graduates of universities. Though its object was primarily social, in the sixteen years of its existence it had accomplished high purposes.

The speaker congratulated the students who have selected America for their studies. The coming era is the era of the Pacific, and the nations washed by this ocean will play a great role in history. America is the first of these, the big brother to other nations on the Pacific, and it is particularly fitting that young Chinese students have the privilege of going to America and studying there.

There were many points of similarity between China and America. They were great rich continents, with big stretches of land, with many places sparsely populated. China, with its great resources, is yet to become a great power on the Pacific. The problems of China, which are essentially economic, are to be solved in a similar way to those which America has already so successfully solved.

Dr. W. S. New, President of the American Returned Students' Club, dwelt on the necessity of going into every kind of practical work, no matter how hard it might seem, and learning one's chosen profession thoroughly. Application was necessary for this. Another thing that was required was getting really into American life through acquaintance with American families. Students learned a great deal through American acquaintances, though they must discriminate between the good and the bad. The American people were extremely cordial, and willing to teach. "If you will only knock at the door they will open."

Dr. New advised the students

U. S. Admiral Charges Britain With Plot To Rule World's Shipping

Sensational Allegations That British Dominated Washington Conference To Weaken U. S. Naval Forces Made By Rear-Admiral Rogers

(Reuter's American Service)

Williamstown, August 19.—Remarkable charges were made today by Rear-Admiral Rogers of the United States Navy in the course of an address at the Institute of Politics.

He declared that Great Britain dominated the world's commerce and had inspired the Washington Conference in order to prevent the United States from having a sufficiently strong navy to protect her merchant marine.

America's limitation of armaments played into the hands of Great Britain, who hoped indirectly to limit the competition of the American merchant fleet by direct action on the American navy.

Rear-Admiral Rogers added: "It is alleged that American bankers are awaiting Great Britain's initiative in the matter of a loan to Germany. They should reflect how far this is explained by the ability of Great Britain to control the commerce by which German will pay reparations, and thus make American credit the tool of British shipping."

(Reuter's American Service)

New York, August 19.—Sir James Salter in an interview today said that he was astonished at Rear-Admiral Roger's statement. He averred that British ships went where the interests of private owners and shippers took them. The British Government never knew where American ships were or what they were doing.

Note: Sir James Salter is Director of the Economic & Finance Section of the League of Nations. He was General Secretary of the Reparations Commission from 1920 to 1922, Director of Ship Requisitioning in 1917, and Chairman of the Allied Maritime Transport Executive in 1918.

Peking, August 17.—The Ministry of Communications has decided to deposit the surcharge revenues from railways and telegraphs in aid of flood sufferers in the Banks of China and Communications, under the control of the Flood Relief Commission of the Ministry of Communications.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 20.—A Chihling mandate today approves the suggestion of the Minister of Finance to institute Customs and likin surtaxes in the provinces to aid flood relief and authorises the Ministry to inform the organisation concerned. The above mandate is ambiguous and merely says the Customs and not the Haikuan presumably owing to the fact that the extraterritorial Governments have not yet sanctioned the Customs surtax.

M. KARAKHAN IN INTERVIEW RAPS U. S. DIPLOMACY

Soviet Envoy Issues Bitter Statement To Russ News Agency

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 20.—M. Karakhan's Note yesterday is the subject of widespread comment in Peking today the general tone of which is an expression of hope that his slashing attack is not an example of the neighborly relations which he promised to establish when he enters the Legation Quarter.

The Rosta News Agency yesterday circulated an interview with M. Karakhan in which the latter, inter alia, says that the idiosyncrasy of American diplomacy forces it to act foolishly and incorrectly vis-a-vis the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics thus differing widely from the American people who are endowed with common sense which favorably distinguishes them even from other nations. M. Karakhan says that no wonder American diplomacy in China is sensitive with regard to the U.S.S.R., for here America more strongly and more acutely than the others Powers felt the blow dealt her policy by the straightforward policy of the U.S.S.R. Indeed, says M. Karakhan, the hypocrisy and Christian bigotry in which Americans enveloped their policy in China have been fully exposed to the eyes of the Chinese people.

"The strike promise to return at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The former settlement has been reaffirmed. Pickets will be removed."

It is understood that Dr. Sun Yat-sen persuaded the recalcitrant faction of his own party to accept the "Gentlemen's Agreement" as meaning non-reinstatement of the police.

SEIZE PISTOLS, ARREST WOMAN, IN ARMS RAID

Police Of Wayside District Make Haul In House On Yangtszepoo Road

Another arms seizure, leading to the arrest of a ricsha coolie and a Japanese woman, was made by police of the Wayside district Tuesday afternoon.

The ricsha coolie, the first to be arrested, was taken into custody by C. P. C. 424 at Broadway and Chaufoong Road. In the ricsha, which bore a private license, was a Mauser pistol in its case and 100 rounds of ammunition.

On being questioned, the ricsha coolie said he was employed by a Japanese residing at 115 Yangtszepoo Road, and as a result of information furnished by him, police and Japanese consular authorities raided the house and took into custody a Japanese woman who gave her name as Y. Masumoto.

At the house, the police found ten .32 calibre automatic pistols, 29 magazines, 2 Mauser barrels, and 104 rounds of Mauser ammunition.

The Japanese woman was charged in her consular court with being in illegal possession of arms.

The coolie, Li Tsang-yang, appeared before Mr. Whitamore, British Assessor, and Magistrate Li, yesterday morning, and said that he was taking the pistol to a man to whom his employer had sold it. He was sentenced to a month's imprisonment, the weapon and ammunition being confiscated.

A Protest Against The Public And Reserved Parks In Shanghai

BY LONGFELLOW C. N. LI, B. A. THE COLLEGE OF YALE-IN-CHINA

In last Sunday's CHINA PRESS there was a short comment on the public and reserved parks in Shanghai. The writer called them a "sore spot" in the relation between the Chinese and the foreigners. He suggested that the rules be modified so as to extend the privilege to those Chinese who are dressed in foreign or semiforeign style—a practise the French have adopted and have found quite satisfactory.

I perfectly agree with the writer that this "sore spot" has caused many heartaches among the Chinese and that the time has come for a "concession" to be made on the part of the foreigners. When I came to Shanghai about two months ago, there were many things that hurt me as a patriotic Chinese; but nothing broke my heart so completely as the so-called public and reserved parks. I have often wondered how such a great monument of international injustice could be allowed to exist in the present age when international amity and good will are so loudly talked about everywhere and the speeches made by the leading diplomats at Washington are, as we say in Chinese "still in our ears".

The very name of public and reserved parks is self-contradictory. If they are public, they can not be reserved at the same time and vice versa. Can any park be public when a overwhelming majority of the population within the Settlement are not admitted? Can it be international when the citizens of one of the members of the family of nations are denied the privilege of using it.

The worst thing is that they are within the very territory of China. Imagine such a place in London, in New York, or in Rome where the English, the Americans, or the Italians respectively are not allowed to tread, would not that drive the citizens of these nations into a great frenzy? The Golden Rule says "Do not do to others what you do not want to have done to yourself".

We Chinese are always very polite to foreigners. In the city of Changsha, we have a number of plays and trackmeets held in public places or school compounds every year. Foreigners are usually admitted without tickets. They are much better treated than the Chinese. Why? Because they are guests, and we think we must be very polite to them. This is also true in other places in China. Is it not returning evil for good to debar the Chinese from using the public parks in Shanghai?

Now it may be argued that there would be no room for foreigners if the use of the parks should be unlimited, the native population being so overwhelmingly big. This reasoning is not sound at all. Who paid for the parks? Does the money come from abroad, or is it raised locally? Are not the majority of

Crowds Again Rock Astor For Second Carnival Program

A reception even more enthusiastic than that accorded on the occasion of their first "carnival" appearance greeted the combined Astor House orchestras on the occasion of the second "carnival night" at the Astor last night, when again the beautiful new ballroom was crowded to capacity with dancers and diners. The plaudits and praise were quite justified by the excellence of the program.

Picking favorites in the varied entertainment offered is rather a difficult undertaking. There were Jess Somers, starring again in his fresh from the coast dance interpretations and saxophone solos; the newest "symphonic jazz" numbers as interpreted by the entire orchestra; a first hearing of "Pale Moon", a composition by Jeff Anderson, trombonist in the big jazz aggregation; a violin solo by Carney Threese; a special pianologue by Ina Kollets; a screaming burlesque of a small town orchestra in action, with "Bill" Chambers as the leader; and the rendition of "Don't Crowd" and "Shine", the very latest dance successes in the States.

Repeated demands for encores emphasized the fact that Jess Somers has won a warm place in the hearts of Shanghai amusement-seekers. Among other numbers, Jess put on his "Frisco" dance, which comes so close to approximately the number staged by the original "Frisco" that many were inclined to think that Jess had gone "Frisco" one better, and his uproarious "Apache" trot with Dora the Beautiful Dummy. Jess also scored heavily in a saxaphone solo to dance steps.

"Whitey" Smith, leader of the combined orchestra, had his innings when the double-barrelled jazz outfit presented its own interpretation of the classics in "symphonic jazz," and all hands brought down the house with the small town orchestra burlesque.

Altogether, it was a "large" evening.

Case Of "Beehive" Mark Infringement Up In Mixed Court

The case in which Messrs. Patons and Baldwins, Ltd., are the complainants against the China Supply Company, the latter firm being charged with infringement of trademark rights by selling inferior wool bearing labels which closely resemble the "Beehive" marks of the complainants, came up again yesterday morning at the Mixed Court before Mr. Whitamore, British Assessor, and Magistrate Li.

Evidence of purchase of the defendant's wool bearing a "Beehive" mark was given yesterday by a coolie in the employ of Mr. J. W. D. Andrews, local representative of Messrs. Patons and Baldwins. The coolie had gone to a shop as instructed and purchased four pounds, paying $8.60 for same, the price being below that of the complainants' product. He had seen seven or eight bales of the goods in the shop at the time.

Mr. Andrews, on the stand, told of receiving information from a Chinese to the effect that if he went to a certain hotel he would find many of the wool bearing the stamp resembling his company's. He had gone there and gotten a large quantity of the wool, and produced same in Court yesterday as evidence.

The case was adjourned until tomorrow morning, when it is hoped to conclude the matter.

Isis Will Screen Wanderwell Film

By special arrangement with the management of the Isis Theater, Capt. and Miss Wanderwell will appear in film and in person at the Isis Theater beginning tonight for four consecutive nights. Capt. Wanderwell will tell the public his adventurous story during the exhibition of the film. It may be recalled that the contest was started on November 27, 1921, at Detroit, Michigan on a wager for one million dollars to win and establish the world's touring record. There are altogether seven competitors. Capt. and Miss Aloha Wanderwell are the first ones to arrive here. They have travelled 153,000 miles, crossing 39 countries.

Three Babes In The Lion's Den

The courage of the lowly Chinese coolie is growing at a fearsome rate. A few days ago one intrepid soul picked the pocket of a Chinese constable on a Bund street-car, and this case was hardly concluded and the brave one duly rewarded for his courage when Mr. Whitamore, British Assessor at the Mixed Court, coming from the Courtroom to the courtyard where his automobile stood, found a coolie nonchalantly scratching his initials in the newly varnished mudguard of the car.

The same day the reckless engraver was being dealt with by the Court three Chinese boys, 15, 18, and 19 years of age respectively, burgled the house of Police Sergeant Mason, at 49 Temple Lane, in the wee small hours of the morning, and helped themselves to an electric iron, brass ornaments, etc., to a value of $150. The dauntless trio appeared in Court yesterday before Mr. Bucknell, American Assessor, and Magistrate Loh and pleaded guilty to the charge against them. The case was remanded for one week, however, to enable further inquiries to be made.

A hawker was found guilty by the Court of receiving the property stolen, and was given his choice of a $20 fine or three weeks' imprisonment.

Motor Truck Cases In British Court

In the British Police Court yesterday, before Mr. G. W. King, Magistrate, two more cases were heard concerning violation of the new regulation requiring details of weight, etc., to appear on motor trucks.

The first defendant yesterday was the China Import and Export Co. Notice of the new regulation was sent them on June 13, but their truck on August 5 failed to show the necessary particulars. Mr. Cornfield, for the Company, stated that a plate of the required form had been attached, but the numbers were not filled in until August 7 or 8. The Court levied a fine of $5.

The second defendant was the Taylor Garage. Inspector Lynch testified to a notice having been sent them by registered letter, and a police sergeant gave evidence of the truck having been seen on August 7 without the necessary numbers.

Mr. Leach, for the Taylor Garage, said that they had never received any notice on the matter. Furthermore, they did not possess a motor truck on June 13. They [illegible] and a license for one, though they held a trade license allowing them to use a truck. They do not deny that the truck was out on the date mentioned, and lacking the necessary plate. The truck had been purchased for resale (after June 13) and on August 7 was being demonstrated.

The defendants had not known of the new ruling until they saw the Court cases reported in the newspapers. Mr. Leach had managed to borrow a copy from another garage man at that time, and copied it.

Magistrate King said that if the defendant desired an adjournment, the police would be called upon to show that the notice had been received by the Garage. Mr. Leach declined this, however, on account of the loss of time involved.

The Court ruled that in view of the fact that the truck was using the public streets, it should have a notice showing the details required by the authorities. The defendant was fined $2, and cautioned.

Double Stabbing Case Results From Family Feud Here

The tendency to settle family feuds without recourse to the law was brought out in the Mixed Court yesterday when Liang Chin, a carpenter who pleaded guilty to stabbing another on Haining Road last week, came up for trial before Mr. Whitamore, British Assessor, and Magistrate Li. Liang said he had attacked the complainant because of the latter having stabbed Liang's uncle.

D. S. I. Yorke testified to having verified the defendant's story and located the man's uncle in the same hospital as the complainant. The first stabbing appears to have been in connection with refusal to join a certain society. The inspector desired to prefer a charge against the complainant.

The plaintiff denied the charge against him, and stated that on August 6, when the older man was stabbed, he was in hospital with heart trouble, and could produce a certificate from the doctor of the Nanyang Tobacco Co., where he was employed, to prove it.

The defendant's uncle, Yoh Lee-ting, was put on the stand, and testified to having been stabbed by Liang Ching-tsha, the complainant in the present case.

The Court found the defendant, Liang Ching, guilty of assault, and sentenced him to four months' imprisonment. Liang Ching-tsha was held in $100 cash or shop security.

Dotted Lines show where Rubber is cultivated
RUBBER PRODUCTS THAT ARE UNIFORMLY GOOD
A little over 15 years ago the United States Rubber Company started their own rubber plantations in Sumatra and the Malay Peninsula. They did this that they might always be certain of securing crude rubber invarying in quality.
Today the United States Rubber Company owns 172 square miles of rubber plantations and 5,000,000 carefully selected rubber trees under the constant care and supervision of a corps of true experts.
Recently this company announced two revolutionary advances in the art of rubber manufacture: The New Sprayed Rubber and The New Web Cord.
The first of these ensures your getting rubber articles made from the purest virgin rubber ever produced. A rubber with all its natural properties unimpaired by the addition of smoke residues and chemicals. The second advance means a cord tire of a quality even more consistent than ever before.
United States Rubber products always have been leaders in the rubber industry. Now—due to these two startling discoveries, you can be assured of rubber products that are more than ever uniformly good.

A festive party at a restaurant at 1032 North Chekiang Road Monday night brought four feasters into the Mixed Court yesterday before Mr. Whitamore, British Assessor, and Magistrate Li. The celebrators, not satisfied with the usual modest methods of showing their jubilation and gaiety, had started in to smash the bowls from which they had consumed their rich repast when the proprietor interrupted the happy party with certain strongly worded objections. The guests responded to this by pushing over the table, and blended with the joyous crash of crockery came proud and high-toned voices declining to pay the bill. At this point the proprietor decided to retire from the scene, and taking to the public highway found a guardian of the law whom he led to his food shop, the four celebrators being arrested. At the Mixed Court yesterday morning the gentlemen were fined $1 each, and ordered to settle the restaurant bill of $3.40.

Big Reception To Chinese Students Leaving For U. S.

to get the best part of American life, to try to get into the spirit of things, and at the same time to remember that they were coming back to China, back to a great country with a long inheritance of a great civilisation, back to a country they love.

Dr. Boynton, of the American School, was then introduced. After referring to his many connections with Tsing Hua College, Dr. Boynton went on to what he considered the fundamental thing for students going to America, which he summed up in three words: "Find faithful friends." This could be done and the doing of this was by far the most important thing the students could possibly accomplish. Personal friendships were one of the great things that could really knit the peoples of America and China together, and establish a strong and enduring bond between them.

Mr. Pinfang Hsia, of Tsing Hua College, responded on behalf of the departing students. He expressed their sincere gratitude to the people of Shanghai who had welcomed them so graciously, and said they would do their utmost to realise the high hopes placed in them. They understood they were going to America not only to gain education there, but also as interpreters of China, and would do their utmost in this respect. On their return they would try to spread in this country the ideals which had made America known as the country of liberty, of democracy.

At the conclusion of the speeches music was furnished by an orchestra, consisting of excellent Chinese amateurs, who after one or two classical numbers turned to dance music, and the floor was open for dancing. Refreshments were served, and a most enjoyable evening was had, the entertainment continuing until the wee small hours.

Protest Is Made Against Shanghai Park Regulations

the tax-payers Chinese? Remember the principle that taxation without representation is unjust.

Regarding the fear of lack of room, it is miscalculated. At least eighty percent of the Chinese population in Shanghai will not come to the parks even if they should be thrown open to them. Our shopkeepers and their clerks are too busy to have any recreation. Their office hours usually begin very early in the morning and stop till very late in the evening. Our rich men and their families will not come too. They have much to enjoy at home. If they chance to think of an excursion, an automobile drive will amply suffice. Most of our students cannot come except on holidays. Our coolies are too busy to come too. Struggle for existence necessitates their working all the day long and a large part of the evening too. Ask a ricsha puller to put down his ricsha and come to a park; he will not do so unless he is paid three dimes an hour. Moreover, one of the rules says that nobody will be admitted if not respectably dressed. This naturally eliminates the whole coolie class.

The people who really want to use the parks are chiefly travellers; school teachers, students, and clerks whose business firm have definite office hours. It is these classes of people who represent the most modern element in China and who feel most keenly the pain of such a "sore spot".

Someone might argue that, generally speaking, Chinese are less appreciative of public things and less careful about personal cleanliness. I must admit that this was true in the past. But things have greatly changed within the past decade or so; and this generalization no longer holds good now.

The writer of the aforesaid comment in THE CHINA PRESS also suggested that the Chinese should try to have some beautiful parks of their own in the native district near the Settlement, and put at the entrance the sign "Foreigners not admitted". This would certainly be a very interesting thing to do and would appease the angry spirit of many Chinese. But I do not quite agree with this sarcastic means of retaliation. If I were the owner of a piece of land in Shanghai, I would turn it into the most beautiful park ever designed by human genius and put on the gate in big letters the sign "Foreigners are welcome". I believe in the doctrine of overcoming evil by good.

from Offenburg and Appenweier yesterday without incident.

Paris, Aug. 19.—While the publication of Mr. MacDonald's letter has completely surprised political circles here, it is authoritatively learned that M. Herriot had previously consented to it.

French official quarters tend to minimise the importance of the letter on the ground that it merely reiterates the British Government's well-known standpoint.

The French official attitude is inspired by a desire to avoid compromising the present excellent Anglo-French relations.

Evanston, Illinois, Aug. 19.—General Charles G. Dawes in a speech here today said that with the experts' plan inaugurated all Europe would now turn towards a new and peaceful life. The United States would be saved from the depths of the inevitable great depression in industry and agriculture which continued chaos and misery in Europe would entail. The whole world had now entered upon a period of peace and prosperity.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, August 19.—The Reichstag will meet on Friday.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 19.—Mr. Philip Snowden, who was the protagonist of the Dawes Report at the late Conference, in an interview today with a representative of the Manchester Guardian, expressed grave doubts as to whether the changes made in the Dawes scheme by the Conference might not lead to difficulties in the future.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer disagreed with two of the decisions of the Conference, firstly, the imposition on Germany of the compulsory delivery of specified goods after the Treaty obligation ceased in 1930. Failure to carry out these deliveries would be regarded as wilful default on the part of Germany, and expose her to sanctions. Such limitation of Germany's commercial freedom had never been contemplated after 1930 either in the Treaty or in the Dawes Report. Secondly, he disagreed with the exclusion from the Agreement, owing to French insistence, of the clause preventing the use of reparation funds to purchase shares in German industries.

Mr. Snowden was also very dissatisfied at the continuance of the occupation of the Ruhr which he declared was wholly inconsistent with the Dawes plan. There was a very real danger that political means would be used to advance the aims of French industrialists upon the economic control of certain German industries.

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Evanston, Ill., August 19.—Brig. General Charles G. Dawes, in his speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination for the vice-presidency, today said that the world would not be standing on the threshold of peace and prosperity as it is now, had it not been for the sympathy and helpful attitude of President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes.

This, Mr. Dawes continued, belied the charges that the present administration is unwilling to help Europe. He said that the administration had only avoided impractical things.

Last Inning Wallop By Kingman Wins Game For Shanghai Ball Club, 2-1

Thrilling Seven-Inning Set-To Gives Deciding Margin To Local Team In Great Series With Keio Stars; Scott Again Hurls Team To Victory

The Gallopers again turned the Keio nine away from victory when they played good baseball yesterday and due to Harry Kingman's long smash in the last few minutes of play with a man on base the extra cup which was donated jointly by the Japanese and American teams went to the local aggregation. The victory was certainly a deserved win for the Gallopers, for in every inning they had men on base but were turned back to the field on nearly every occasion.

The game which was scheduled for nine innings had to be cut short to seven on account of darkness and up until the last frame the score remained a tie, 1-1. In the last of the seventh after Yamaoka in center made a sensational catch of Starke's slam, Claire went to first when he was hit by the pitcher and then came the wallop which broke up the whole series.

This battle was certainly a seven inning thriller for with both sides connecting with the ball in every inning as the two hurlers were rather worn out from the previous combats it was up to the outfielders who should win the deciding meeting. John Scott has now won the title of Shanghai's Iron Man as result of his three straight victories over this crack college nine who are young athletes in the prime of their sporting career.

SCOTTY IS GOOD

Scotty opened the game yesterday by striking out the first three men who faced him and allowed but two hits to the Japanese all during the battle.

The Gallopers started out with their stick work in the second inning when Kingman got a single to right field and then stole second. He then shoved down to third when Smith and Tavares both drew a walk; however, there were two outs. Scott attempted to score Kingman but Hamasaki fielded the ground ball and forced Kingman out at the plate.

The Keio boys drew first blood when they crossed the plate in the third inning when Kirihara hit to Bristow in right field and took third when the Galloper misjudged the ball and let it roll into the crowd. While on the hot corner, Tavares let one of Scotty's fast balls go through him and the Nipponese base runner scored, putting up their lone tally. The visitors held this one run lead over the locals for two innings although Shanghai had men on base in the third and fourth innings.

In the third stanza Thatch got a hit but it was of no avail, for the Japanese sent the local team back to the field in quick order. In the following inning Bristow hit and got to second safely when Hamasaki pegged to Kirihara after fielding Smith's slow roller, but the star shortstop actually dropped the ball which is certainly a rare thing for that player to do. However, with two men on base Tavares laid down a perfect bunt and advanced the base runners. Bristow, who was on third at this point of the game, dashed for home when the opposing catcher let a ball get through him but Hamasaki the pitcher ran up to the plate from his position on the mound, received the peg from the catcher who retrieved the ball, and tagged the Galloper out at the plate. Result one hit and no runs.

"BUCK" DOES IT

With his mind set on scoring "Buck" Taylor came to bat with his meanest looking war club in the Shanghai share of the fifth inning and clouted out a three bagger to the right field crowd and was scored by Thatch's clean single through the second baseman. Stark also came through with a hit in this frame after Thatch, and the two of them were advanced a base by Clair's sacrifice. Again the Gallopers were stopped from scoring when they were right at the plate, for when Kingman hit to the shortstop he pegged home and cut off Thatch from third, while Kingman was retired on the next play when Bristow hit to the second baseman who readily threw the local first sacker out at second base. Result three hits and one run.

Due mostly to the stellar fielding ability of the Gallopers during the following two innings the Japanese were held to no scores, for in the sixth inning Kingman made a nice scoop of Clair's bad throw from third and in the seventh frame "Buck" Taylor in left stopped a home run clout which was labeled in red ink. Inspite of the fast growing darkness Taylor ran for some few yards and within just a matter of feet of the crowd pulled the ball into his possession and held the Japanese runless for that inning.

A SENSATIONAL CATCH

In their share of the final inning, Starke led off for the Gallopers and lined out a long hit between center and right field but that Keio boy who holds down center field made a long run and after diving for the ball and catching it he fell and rolled over several times but still kept possession of his object. That put one Galloper out of the way but when Clair went to bat the pitcher hit him with the ball and gave him a free pass to the initial sack. Then, with the winning hit packed in his bat, Harry Kingman the first sacker for the Gallopers smashed out a long drive between center and right field which scored Clair and the game was over.

Judge C. S. Franklin presented the cup after the game to "Iron Man Jawn Scott" and his teammate, Harry Kingman, who deserve the outstanding honors of the victory. However, the teamwork which was displayed by the Gallopers was the main thing that won the game for them.

Press Box Details

Both pitchers did their very best yesterday although it was a hard grind for them especially for the diminutive hurler, Hamasaki, who has pitched a majority of the game for the visiting team. The Keio team will probably leave within the next two or three days and when they go it will be sad farewell to bid for they were all wonderful players and their brand of sportmanship is very rarely seen on the baseball diamond.

Harry Kingman certainly made up for his absence from the Sunday game, for his clout in those last few minutes of play was a beauty. Harry played a good game on first as usual, for on several occasions he laid his lanky form down in front of the ball and stopped many a man from getting admission to the bases. Harry also got one of the two stolen bases of the Keio catcher yesterday when he took second base in the second inning.

"Buck" Taylor has also played a good game in this series for his fielding has been close on to perfect while at bat he nicked the visiting twirlers for two triples. Thatch was another star for the local team. He certainly stepped into Bullard's shoes and he'd down his position while the Galloper was away. But there is one player who looms up above all of them for his hitting and fielding put together could spell no other name then Dan Starke, that robber in center, who took many a triple and home run away from the visitors and while at bat cracked out several of them himself for in one game he got two three baggers.

The next big series for the Gallopers will be the Marine games which are set to begin in the first part of September while it is not certain if the Dai Mai team will be able to come over for a contest. However in the meantime the locals will take a long deserved rest.

London, August 19.—The Fifth Test Match between the South Africans and England was resumed at the Oval today but was abandoned at 2.15 owing to heavy rain.

A wet wicket delayed the start till noon. The spectators numbered 2,000. The wicket was kicking badly.

Hendren who scored 32 yesterday reached his century when his innings had lasted 140 minutes. After this the batsmen hit out. The 400 was hoisted when the English innings had lasted 5 hours and 40 minutes. Hendren gave an excellent, all-round display, with very clean cutting and driving. He was in for just over 3 hours, and his score of 142 included 2 sixes and 14 fours.

At the lunch interval the score stood at 421 for 8 wickets. A downpour at 12.55 inundated the pitch while lunch was taken and further heavy rain caused the match to be abandoned at 2.15.

U. S. AIR MAIL WILL CHANGE MAIL ROUTES

Postmaster General New Sees Realignment As Result Of New Service

(Reuter's American Service)

Washington, July 18.—Postmaster General New today predicted that a realignment of world mail routings would be brought about as a result of the establishment of the new air mail service between New York and San Francisco.

"European mail now routed via Marseilles and the Suez Canal and destined for Australia and the Orient," said Mr. New, "may be diverted to New York to take advantage of the air mail service, which oftentimes will be able to shorten the transit period as much as two weeks.

"In many instances the faster air mail service will be able to make connections with steamers at San Francisco and save from two days to two weeks in time of transit. The same situation, of course, applies to virtually all other European transpacific countries."

The air mail also is expected to handle a large amount of mail matter sent from the United States for delivery to foreign countries. A recent departmental ruling provides that no extra charge beyond the regular air mail postage will be required on mail addressed to countries where the two-cent postage rate is applicable. To countries where the international rate applies, the air mail postage will be held as covering the portion of the postage fee accruing to the United States and only three cents additional will be required for the first ounce and one cent for each additional ounce or fraction.

Swimming Notes

With the annual galas of the S.R.C. and the S.I.S.C. close at hand, interest in this popular sport is being stirred. To cap it all, we understand an invitation has been received by the two Clubs from the Victoria Recreation Club of Hongkong who are planning an interport gala for the latter part of next month. Whether the local Association will be able to send a team south depends entirely on the swimmers, and at present it is difficult to say whether a fairly strong team can be got together. We shall know definitely when the galas are over.

The Hewing Club's gala is scheduled for the 29th and 30th of this month and includes five local championships, namely, the 100 and 400 yards free style, the 100 yards breast stroke, throwing the polo ball and diving. In the century swim, entries will, in all probability, be received from Jas. B. Brown, E. A. Brodie, J. R. Tordy, F. H. Johnston and a few others. Little is known of Tordy's speed, though whispers from the S.I.S.C. state he is shaping well. With the absence of Chas. Brown, the first three named should put up a keen struggle for the honors.

In the other events the laurels should go to the home club, though Sofoulis and O'Rourke should prove strong contenders for the breast stroke championship, with Encarnacio stripping for heaving of the polo ball.

Scots Have Decisive Win At Lawn Bowls

LANCASHIRE vs. GLASGOW

A very interesting challenge game for silver spoons between rinks representing the above ended in a decisive win for the men frae Glesca.

Lancashire team.—J. Tomlinson (skip) A Cheetham, H. Roebuck, W. Brierley. Glasgow team:— R. C. Aitkenhead (skip) D. Ramsay, W. Patrick, Capt. Malcolm.

Only the good bowling of the Lancastrians' skip prevented a huge score being piled up against them, as the West of Scotland men bowled to top of form.

The final score:—Glasgow, 20 shots, Lancashire, 7 shots.

Favor Vacation For All Workers In United States

New York, July 23.—More and more each year manufacturers in the textile industries are adopting the policy of closing down their factories entirely for one or two weeks during the Summer as a vacation period for their employes, according to a report just compiled by the International Association of Garment Manufacturers, following a comprehensive investigation of the matter. Employers of manual workers are learning, the report states, that a vacation is equally as important in maintaining efficiency among factory workers as among office workers.

Whereas a few years ago it was the practice almost universally to give vacations with pay only to office workers or department executives, the association found that factories are now rapidly extending the same privilege even to unskilled workers. Some factories have a rule that vacations with pay are granted only to week workers who do not receive additional pay for overtime, while piece workers, who are paid only for what they accomplish, are not paid during the period of curtailment. Employers who do grant pay to piece workers generally require employment of at least a year before the worker is entitled to a vacation. They give one week's leave, with a possibility of two weeks as bonus for perfect attendance during the year preceding. The basis of pay is the year's weekly average.

Some factories grant a week with full pay for all workers who have served a year or longer, basing the rate of pay on eight weeks' piece work earnings. Others grant a week with full pay at a rate based on the worker's earnings for the three months preceding the vacation period. Another plan satisfactorily operated in some plants is that of granting a week during the Summer and another during the Winter, with full pay computed at a rate based on average piecework earnings for the ten weeks preceding the vacation period.

The association's investigations in general disclosed a definite tendency among manufacturers to be more generous in granting vacations even to piece-workers. Many leading concerns that have not in the past granted vacations with pay to such employes said they were firmly convinced that the piece-worker was as much entitled to a vacation as any other employe, and that production would be materially stimulated by granting such vacations. They are they said, studying the situation with a view to devising some satisfactory method of computing the pay to which piece-workers are entitled during their vacations.

The association also found that a few manufacturers still oppose the idea of vacations for any employes. One producer declared that vacations were "a foolish precedent to establish," while another asserted that it was needless to grant vacations to piece-workers for the reason that "a piece-worker is independent anyway, and comes and goes at his own will." Another manufacturer expressed the belief that vacations for factory workers were unsatisfactory because the workers "did not get the rest for which the vacations were granted, but took other work during their vacation periods in order to make extra money."

The practice of closing down the plant for a week or two during July or August was highly commended by many manufacturers, who pointed out that it afforded an opportunity thoroughly to overhaul all the machinery and equipment, and that it also avoids disruption of production due to irregular attendance on the part of workers during an extended vacation period.

Manufacturers in general, it was found, are thoroughly in favor of some form of vacation arrangement for all workers, with pay, as providing a needed rest and relaxation from the monotony of factory work and stimulating efforts on the part of the employes upon their return. It was also brought out that workers who are assured of a rest period of one or two weeks during the Summer are less apt to take unnecessary time from their jobs during the remainder of the year.

When vacations are based upon the term of service of the worker they tend to reduce labor turnover, as factory and office workers alike will consider carefully the prospect of losing their vacations before quitting their jobs.

So enthusiastic have some manufacturers become over the improvement in production, efficiency and good-will after vacation arrangements have been inaugurated that they have gone to the extent of spending considerable time in helping their workers plan their vacations most advantageously. It is pointed out that the more pleasure and good times of the proper kind the worker has during the vacation, the more satisfactory to the employer will be the results.

Some employers supply their workers with information as to attractive, moderately priced resorts, railroad or steamer fares and other data essential to the planning of a restful vaction. The practice of maintaining vacation funds to which the workers may allot part of their weekly earning during the year, to be matched wholly or in part by the company, is being employed satisfactorily in many establishments. Some of the larger employers have established camps where workers may spend their vacations at no cost beyond their food.

So far as could be discovered by the association, there are no evidences of any instance where an employer, once having tried a vacation plan, has later abolished it. Every manufacturing organisation that has established a vacation system expressed entire satisfaction with the result of the arrangement in its reply to the association's question.

Aside from the benefits to the workers resulting from the practice of closing down the plant entirely during the vacation period, there are numerous advantages derived from such a system by the employers. As a result it is predicted that this system will eventually replace the former plan of granting vacations to a few workers at a time and extending the vacation period over several months.

Among the advantages recorded is that the management is relieved of the trouble of compiling a schedule of vacations, thereby lessening the amount of bookkeeping and other detail work required. Furthermore, as the Summer is generally a slack period in most plants in the textile and apparel industries, a simultaneous vacation for all employes avoids the necessity of keeping the plant in operation when there is little work to be done.

FATAL TO GOOD LOOKS

Thin Blood and Nervousness Will Quickly Wreck Beauty

Pale people are generally nervous. Thin blood not only affects the complexion by robbing cheeks and lips of colour, but it also weakens the nerves by depriving them of nourishment.

When you have so far lost control of your nerves that you "fly to pieces" over the least little noise or excitement it is high time to build up your blood. The drawn look, the sunken eyes, the deepening lines about the mouth and forehead, the loss in weight, are plain signs that the nerves and the body are being poorly nourished.

Don't put off taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills any longer. You may be nearer a collapse than you think and these Pills have been world-renowned as the most perfect blood and nerve restorative known to Medical Science for as many years as you can look back upon. Therefore you can safely give them your confidence.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a specific in such diseases as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, nervous debility and neuralgia, also for the special ails and ills of the weaker sex. Of chemists, or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine, Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai, $1.50 per bottle, $3 for 6 bottles post free.

The Mental Background And Cure For Crime

THE crime wave through which Shanghai is passing at the present time lends interest to the serious study which is now being made in other lands regarding the criminal and his background. French Strother, a writer in the August World's Work, states that recent investigations have developed the fact that there is a definite "criminal class" and that these unfortunate individuals constitute approximately 2 per cent. of the population. These people, according to Mr. Strother, constitute practically a caste made up of the worst cases of emotional defects outcropping from families who run to eccentricity indicating emotional defects, generation after generation. The reason these families do not outbreed extensively into better strains and ruin them is the well-known fact of biology that "like tends to mate with like."

To quote from Mr. Strother's conclusions, "The evidence of hereditary mental taint among criminals is overwhelming. In some cases, it is appallingly evident, as in the famous Jukes family. Biologists have traced the history of this family for four or five generations so that they now have the records of several thousands of these offspring of the original union of a degenerate criminal and a prostitute. No member of this family has been a really useful member of society. Nearly every man in it has been a criminal or a pauper or an inmate of an insane asylum, and nearly every woman in it has the same record, plus prostitution or illegitimate children. The Jukes family has cost society several millions of dollars—all the result of the mating of one degenerate couple."

The increase of crime which always follows a war, is also explained by the same writer which is of particular interest here owing to the crime wave in Shanghai and in other cities of China being an indirect result of the wars and political disturbances taking place in the interior of China. "Unusual excitement, and the loosening of home ties that have a sobering effect on the emotions, threw off their balance thousands of men and boys whose emotional centers were unstable. The same phenomenon in frontier life calls for the same explanation. Every gold rush, from 1849 to the present, and the corresponding oil rushes into Oklahoma and Texas, provides exactly the same outbreaks of lawlessness and violence.

"Environment, then, does not cause crime; it merely offers, occasionally, an exceptional opportunity for crime. But it cannot be too often repeated that every situation in life offers opportunities for crimes; yet the only people who commit crimes are people of unstable emotions. And unstable emotions are the product of defective brain and nerve tissue. The same people who commit crimes in the slums would commit them if they were artificially supported in affluence. Probably they would commit fewer crimes, because they would have somewhat fewer occasions for committing them.

"The third distinguishing fact that runs all through the records of criminals described above, is the emotional eccentricity of their parents and other near relatives. Alcoholic excess, religious mania, hysteria, overwrought nerves, cruelty to animals—all are symptoms of defective emotional centers. Their presence in other members of the family simply means that the criminal inherited his defective emotional centers. He happened to inherit them in such proportions, and the circumstances of his individual existence happened so to work out, that he turned to crime. Their inheritance happened to be in such proportions, and the circumstances of their lives happened to so work out, that they merely manifested eccentricities of behavior. They as well as he, had criminal potentialities—by inheritance. They and he had the same environment. He alone became a criminal, because his inherited defect was worse than theirs."

As a cure for the criminal outcasts, the author quoted above recommends segregation for males and females. "Society demands such segregation now in obvious cases—for example, society would not permit two inmates of a home for the feeble-minded to bring children into the world. And once society realises that emotional feeble-mindedness is just as definite a fact as idiocy of the intelligence, society will be prepared to accept exactly the same prohibition upon child-bearing by couples whose emotional centers are grossly defective. Segregation would not call for more insane asylums. Instead, it would call for guarded farm colonies, where the victims of hereditary defect could live a cheerful, active, useful life, separated only from society at large and the companionship of the opposite sex.

"But, the reader asks, is there no hope of curing these mental defects? Hope is the only affirmative answer yet possible. Wonderful things seem possible, if results already obtained by stimulating the thyroid gland and other glands are followed by greater success that confirms the hopes of scientists. But there is no certainty of such success, and no one knows how many generations may elapse before the possibility or impossibility of such a cure is demonstrated. All that science now knows about mental defects is that they are as yet incurable."

The author's final conclusions are that the adoption of such a wholesale plan of segregation of the mentally defective criminals would, in the brief space of three generations, completely weed out the problem and society would only then be required to deal with the occasional biological "throw-back," and crime as we know it today would be extinct.

Health Safeguards

THE report of the Acting Commissioner of Health published in this morning's Municipal Gazette gives an interesting account of the activities of the department in protecting the public health. Under various heading is shown the result of a systematic investigation of the various businesses through which harm might come to residents were proper precautions not taken. Following a precedent long established the quality of the ice cream sold in the Settlement has been carefully looked into and out of 117 specimens examined, twenty were found of such quality as to warrant prosecution, and in five cases where prosecution and conviction were found to have failed in effecting an improvement, the licences were withdrawn. Comparison with figures for last year showed that a decided improvement was made in the quality of ice cream sold, while of the foreign makers it is stated that for the most part they are taking pains to come up to standard with success. We have no doubt that in cases where there is a failure to do this the authorities will take effective action.

The report as to milk also suggests that the department is doing good work. Not only was there a large number of samples taken and examined—107—but of this number only two were actually found to be adulterated, while a further couple showed signs suspicious of adulteration. A more difficult task seems to be to prevent the importation into the Settlement of milk from unlicensed dairies outside the limits. This appears to require more than usual diligence to prevent, but success has been achieved to a certain extent by the prosecution of licensed dairies within the Settlement who have received and sold the unlicensed product. In every case discovered there has been sufficient evidence to secure conviction.

The action of a local hotel with regard to an unlicensed laundry is one which could be copied to good effect by the small householder. Amongst those who tendered for the work of the hotel was a laundry situated outside the Settlement and unlicensed. When told that his tender could not be considered unless he were licensed, he promptly came into line, petitioned for his licence and promised to abide by its requirements. The point of the section under this heading, however, is the statement that of twelve laundries outside the Western District, only one is in a satisfactory condition, coming up to the standard required within the settlement, while the other eleven certainly are not. Householders in the western district, therefore, would be well advised, not only for the assistance of the authorities but for their own protection, to enquire as to the location of the premises of the washman who does their clothes, and as to whether or not he has a licence.

The authorities can only see that those who apply to them for licences come up to their standards as regards the cleanliness of their premises, and provide for the punishment of those who do not. But by the exercise of a little discretion as to where they send their linen for washing, residents can exercise an even more powerful weapon, one which appeals to the pocket of the laundryman. It certainly would not seem that this would involve any great amount of trouble, for the production of satisfactory proof that the man who desired the work was licensed to perform it, would seem to be all that is necessary. In any event the Health Department is doing excellent work, but this will be assisted considerably by householders doing their little bit along the lines we suggest.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

Out in the wide, open spaces are boys
Who dream of the city, and long to be there;
They are sick of the terrible absence of noise,
And weary of looking at fields that are fair.
Their noses are freckled, their muscles are hard.
They are wearily wasting their lives on the farms;
They sigh for the pleasures from which they are barred,
And wish they could dwell in the midst of alarms.

There are rattles and squeaks in the flivvers they drive,
Fresh milk they have ceased to consider a treat;
They sit at no tables, when meal-times arrive,
Where girls mingle smoke with the stuff that they eat.
They read about men who are wealthy or great,
In spite of the humble beginnings they had,
And they dream of the proud cities early and late
Where every one prospers—and, gosh, they are sad!

Cooped in the cities are round-shouldered men
Who wearily squint through the glasses they wear;
They go to the windows to gaze now and then,
At acres of roofs, with tanks here and there;
They dream of the wide open spaces from which
They hopefully came when their troubles were few;
Fate chose them, they thought, to be famous and rich,
But their hopes, for some reason, have never come true.

They crowd into basements, at noontime, to eat,
And they wait on themselves, and the smells make them sick;
Men push them and jab them and step on their feet;
If they wish to get places they have to be quick.
In their moments of leisure their fancies return
To the farms that they left when their fortunes were sought—
The fruit and the buttermilk, fresh from the churn,
And would they go back if they could? They would not!

EXCERPTS FROM GREAT WRITERS

By Mathy

PERSONAL INFLUENCE.

Of all the forces that drive human beings, the greatest is personal influence.

By personal influence I mean that force that goes out from you simply by virtue of what you are. It has nothing to do with what you do or say or try, except as these things express what you are.

Every person sends out what we might call dynamic rays or invisible electric-like impulses which are of such nature as to affect other persons. These rays from me can make other individuals gay or sad, good or bad, and so forth.

This is the only power that pulls souls, the only wind that bends them, the only fire that warms them, the only stream that bears them along.

Emerson said that "what you are preaches so loudly that I cannot hear what you say"; which is a striking way of stating that one's unconscious influence far outreaches in effect one's conscious effort.

It would be well if we would keep this in mind; it would save us a lot of futile busying.

For instance, reformers bent on saving the world should not be so hot and impatient seeing that there is no real saving that ever has been or ever will be done that is not the result of the influence radiating from good people.

Laws are dead and wooden, but when a man incarnates a law it begins to work on other men. The "World" is of no force until it is "made Flesh".

It is the personal influence of a teacher that affects all the real educating of the pupil. The wise man understood this who said that the best university was "a log with Mark Hopkins on one end and me on the other."

I sometimes doubt if any real good has ever been done by didactic teaching or preaching. All the moral maxims in the world are poor beside one strong, sweet, normal life. And a wood woman is worth, as a guide, the most select list of "virtues and their opposite vices."

To create such a character in fiction as "John Halifax" or "Jean Valijean" or "Little Nellie" or the man in the "Third Floor Back," is to exert a lasting and potent uplift agency, better than a thousand sermons.

It is fascinating to many minds, the idea of "doing good" and "working for the Lord," and devoting one's time wholly to inducing people to become better; but it is not practical. The only way to improve mankind is to be something that inspires them; your argument and exhortation are of small avail. Just as the only way to dispel darkness is to shine, and the only way to electrify iron is to be a magnet.

Goodness is a contagion; we must "catch" it, we must have it and "give" it.

When you say in your creed that you believe in God, your declaration is of no help to you or o others unless what you mean is this:

That you believe in the inherent potency of goodness, that it will live down, outwear, and destroy evil; that justice, cleanliness, honesty, and kindness will win in the long run against fraud, dirt, lying, and cruelty; and that persons who are upright and altruistic get more joy out of every minute of their lives than idle, porty, and self-coddling folk; nd that there is altogether a ast tidal or subterranean movement in the human race toward ealth, strength, and beauty.

Therefore why worry over what ou will say or do, since it makes no matter? Simply BE right, and hen say whatever comes to your ind, and to whatever comes to our hand, and you cannot fail to o the most possible toward helping along.

Could You Use A Fourth Dimension

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

This question is so frequently asked that it seems desirable, once in a while, to attempt an answer. There is no real dificuluty in understanding "what is meant" by the fourth dimension provided that first you get clearly in mind what the three ordinary dimensions are, and especially the reason why there are three and only three. I have found that a surprising number of educated people have very misty ideas about this. They are confused by the fact that they can think of an object as having an infinite number of dimensions, because it extends outward from its center on all sides in every conceivable direction.

But, while this is true, yet there are but three fundamental directions involved in the construtions of any solid body, or in open spaces, all the others being summed up in these three, which alone are called dimensions. They are length, breadth, and thickness, or height.

Consider the rom in which you are sitting; it is say 15 feet long, 12 feet broad, and 8 feet high. These three dimension are measured at right angles to one another, and you can find no more than three dimensions bearing that relation. The respective names that you give them have no importance except for convenience; you can interchange them all at will. If you run an imaginary line from a lower corner of the room to the diagonally opposite upper corner, little thought will show that the extension of this line is made up of the three original dimensions. It is contained in the length, breadth, and height of the room. Taking those dimensions as a whole you may turn them about as much as you like, and regard them in whatever aspect you will, but you can never add to their number, or change their relations to one another. A solid, then, or space itself, is made up of three and only three dimensions.

So, too, a plane, flat surface is made up of only two dimensions, —length and breadth; while a straight line, if it had no thickness, would possess but one dimension,—length.

Now, with these things clear in your head, consider what a fourth dimension would have to be. Plainly, it would have to be something entirely different from either length, breadth, or thickness, and inasmuch as only length, breadth, and thickness are found to exist in any material object, or in the space around material objects, we must conclude that a fourth dimension can only be described—at least as far as human experience is concerned—as a metaphysical conception which has no corresponding reality for us.

Many attempts have been made to present a sort of geometrical representation of the fourth dimension, but they have no real meaning, and are worse than useless for purposes of explanation. The fact is that the fourth dimension idea is purely the product of transcendental mathematics, spurning reality, and starting from abstract notions to build up its beautiful structures, for beautful —as soap bubbles—they do appear to those who, with Bertrand Russell, define "pure mathematics" as "a subject in which we never know what we are talking about, nor whether what we are saying is true."

If you wish, nevertheless, to obtain a sort of ghost-view of the fourth dimension, you could, perhaps, do no better than consider it from the side of Einstein's idea that it is represented by time. We must all admit that things exist in time as well as in space. Then you may consider time as being, not independent of space, but something compounded with space; in short a fourth kind of dimension of which our ordinary senses give us no notion, but which we apprehend through our timesense. This is the origin of what the Einsteinians call "Space-time," which possesses a famous "curvature" that cannot be described except in mathematical language, but which they claim would give Newton a bad quarter of an hour he could come back and consider it.

The Vogue For Gray Shows That Is is Not an Easy Color to Wear

Gray has been much affected so far this summer by women who follow the fashion, and sometimes the result has been good and sometimes it has not. There is something undeniably smart about the right sort of gray costumes. You cannot deny that it is a difficult color to wear. Some good authorities on such matters insist that it is the most difficult of all hues.

There is no tone that appears to such unfavorable advantage as gray in inexpensive materials. Inexpensive black materials, providing the black is a good definite black and that the material is not positively "cheap," pass muster very well, and even the least costly white fabric, while it remains pure white, appears to advantage. But there is that about gray that unless the fabric is expensive the shade of gray is apt to be very unsatisfactory. There are grays that verge too much on the pink and others that reveal an undertone of blue or green that come to mind when one mentions inexpensive gray.

Then another thing that makes gray difficult. Two grays, unless they match perfectly, do swear at each other in a way that is remarkable for a color family seemingly so peaceable and demure. Unless the gray of your hat matches the gray of your frock exactly far better would it have been if you had not attempted to be a symphony in gray.

Then gray is of such variable becomingness. I enjoys or suffers from the reputation of being very becoming to older women. The woman with white hair or hair quite gray is urged to wear it. But as a matter of fact unless the gray or white haired woman has a clear, fairly radiant complexion, the gray is apt to be deadly unflattering.

But when you can wear gray and when the gray is of the right sort, then truly you are to be congratulated. You then possess something of distinction that is lacking to the woman dressed all in white, in black, in blue, green or red.

The sketch shows the costume recently worn by a smart woman who really appears to excellent advantage in this tone. The frock was of gray crepe de chine with lace sleeves embroidered in silver and flounces of the lace. It was worn with a large picture hat trimmed with aigrettes.

Gray crepe semi-formal frock has long gray lace sleeves embroidered with silver. Large gray velvet hat with high aigrette.

BLACK AND WHITE TILED BATH SETS

There are interesting black and white sets for the bath room—bath mat, bath towels and wash cloths. The border is in black and white blocks, like tiles. These are very effective used in a bath room with colored walls—but even more so in a bath room finished in black and white.

A RECIPE FOR TODAY
Peach Pie with Meringue

Pare and quarter six ripe peaches. Blanch and slice the kernels, simmer in water fifteen minutes and strain. Place the peaches in a baking pan, add four tablespoons of sugar to the strained liquid, pour over the fruit, add a few bits of butter, cover and bake until soft enough to press through a colander. Line a deep tin with plain paste. Strain the fruit, and three slightly beaten egg yolks and a pinch of salt and bake. Make a meringue of the whites of the eggs and two tablespons of sugar, and brown slowly and carefully in the oven. Cool and serve.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIAN SANDWICHES

In Czecho-Slovakia, afternoon tea parties are something of an innovation. Not very many years ago they had coffee parties instead and, as one woman says, "ate a great many sweet cakes and felt ill afterwards."

Now they follow the English custom of drinking tea. But they seem to feel that a "thin beverage like tea needs some other kind of solid food." So the custom is to serve sandwiches, but they are not the sort of sandwiches to which we are accustomed. The very word sandwich to us seems to indicate that the filling is "sandwiched" in between two slices of bread. In Czecho-Slovakia there is but one slice of bread.

On this slice of bread the filling is spread and then it is served on a plate with a little fork, or if the filling is fairly dry it is eaten with the fingers.

One very delicious sandwich is made by spreading brown bread with a mixture of hard cooked egg and caviar with a few drops of lemon. Sometimes ripe red mixed with a little chopped ripe tomatoes are cut up, drained and kin.

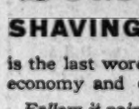
A big rich lather from a big new stick
Because its wonderful lather quickly softens the toughest beard and soothes the tenderestskin, Williams' Shaving Stick has always been the leading shaving stick of the world.
Williams' Doublecap SHAVING STICK
is the last word in shaving economy and convenience.
Follow it point by point:

1. A threaded metal ring at the middle of the stick.


2. A metal cap is screwed to each side of the ring. One cap serves as a holder while the other end of the stick is in use.

3. The cap gives a big hold like the handle of a shaving brush. When one end of the soap has been used up, use the other.
4. When all but a thin wafer of soap is used up get a Re-Load Stick and press the wafer on one end of it. No scrap of waste. The handsome, non-corrosive metal box will last indefinitely.
The soap in Williams' Doublecap and Williams' Holder Top Sticks is precisely the same in quality.
Made by the Makers of the famous Williams' Talc Powders,—perfectly borated, medicinal and toilet.

Traffic Accidents In Settlement Far Above 1923 Record

An increase of well above fifty percent in the number of accidents in the Settlement during the month of July as compared with July of the previous year is shown in the monthly report of Major A. Hilton Johnson, acting commissioner of police, which is published in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette.

During the month there were 61 accidents due to tram cars, 255 due to motor vehicles, and 227 due to other vehicles. The report for July of 1923 showed 49 accidents due to trams, 171 due to motor vehicles and 113 due to other vehicles.

In July of 1924, 220 persons were injured in accidents and nine killed. In the corresponding month of the previous year, 173 persons were injured and seven killed. Eight deaths from motor vehicles were reported last month, and one from other vehicles. Motor vehicles also accounted for 97 injuries, while tramway accidents claimed 41 injuries and other vehicles 82. Thirty-seven were injured while riding on tramcars improperly.

Of those killed and injured, four who were killed were at fault and 100 who were injured brought their injuries upon themselves. Fifty-seven accidents occurred in which bicycles were concerned.

Armed Robbery Is Staged In Chapei

The Tuh Sung Chong dry goods store on Tung Kun Road, Chapei, was the scene of a raid by armed robbers on Tuesday evening, according to the Chinese press.

The storekeeper reported to the police that at 8 o'clock in the evening a band of eight or nine men, armed with pistols, appeared at the shop, jumped the counter, and, after intimidating the shopkeeper and assistants with pistols, stole $100 in cash and two long gowns.

The Chapei police are investigating the case. The members of the robber band had the appearance of being southerners but spoke a northern dialect.

Unofficial Recognition For Soviet At Canton

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, August 11.—The Kuomintang Government in Canton, while unable formally to receive the credential from the Soviet Consul-General coming to Canton, will accord him unofficial recognition, as has been done to the German Consul here. The Canton Government does not recognise any act of the Peking Government, with which the Russians signed a treaty recently. For a long time, however, the Russian Reds have maintained a representative in Canton in the person of Mr. M. Borodin, who is also an adviser to the Kuomintang Political Party. The decision to accord the Russians unofficial recognition was arrived at a meeting of the General Headquarters of Dr. Sun Yat-sen on August 7.

For a long time the Germans and the Russians have been befriended in Canton by Dr. Sun Yat-sen, who is having several of them as personal and political advisers. A German is being engaged by the Canton Municipality as adviser and another by the Police in Canton as instructor of the military police force. Both the Russians and the Germans formerly maintained consulates in Shameen, the Canton foreign concession, but these buildings since the War have gone into the hands of private owners.

In the case of the Germans in Canton, the Canton Government is forsaking the legal jurisdiction over them as was once assumed in the case of M.M. de Corbat during the regime of General Chen Chiung-ming in the latter part of 1922, when this German was accused of being connected with an explosion of a bomb in front of a Canton newspaper office which killed several persons. The accused was tried and freed by the Canton District Court. The German firm of Reuter, Broeckelmann and Co., is bringing a suit for $16,552.48 against a Chinese through the German Consulate instead of through the Canton District Court. It is also understood that the Canton Bureau of Foreign Affairs has accepted despatches from the German Consulate and filed them relative to this case similarly with those from other consulates which still exercise exterritorial jurisdictions in China.

Germans are regaining a foothold in Canton. While they are not welcomed in Shameen as residents, they have found the many modern office buildings along the Bund of the native city good enough and, in many cases, better than those of Shameen. At present, when the strike is still in progress in Shameen and the Chinese labor element supporting the Kuomintang Political Party is boycotting the foreign concession, the Germans are finding themselves quite safe.

For their homes, the Germans and the Russians are residing in Tungshan, a new suburb of new-style houses east of Canton. Formerly Americans resided there mostly, but now Germans and Russians dominate. At first the committee in charge of the Shameen strike proposed to include Tungshan as its boycotted area also, but, on learning that many advisers of their political chief were living there, the members of the committee called the threat off.

Obituary

MRS. H. HATA

The Eastern News Agency announces with deep regret the death of Mrs. Hata, wife of Mr. H. Hata, General Manager of the Eastern News Agency, which took place at 7:35 o'clock on the morning of the 18th instant at her parents' home in Tokio, where she has been ill for some time past. Mr. Hata is now on a world tour, staying in Paris at the present time.

The late Mrs. Hata, aged 28, the eldest daughter of Mr. Nishida, the Dean of the famous Toranomon Girls' High School in Tokio was married to Mr. Hata about six years ago upon graduation from her father's school and has since resided in Shanghai.

It was only about six months ago that she accompanied her husband to Tokio prior to the latter's departure for his world-tour. During her residence, she occupied a prominent place in the Japanese Community, having a large circle of friends not only among the Japanese but also among the foreign and Chinese communities here.

Stubborn Case of Boils & Pimples
"Can honestly say I am quite cured"

Our portrait is of Mr. W. BRIDAL, 27, Strand Street, Newtown, Mountain Ash, South Wales, Great Britain, who writes:

"It gives me great pleasure in telling you about the remarkable cure I found in Clarke's Blood Mixture for boils and pimples. After having suffered from time to time from both, and trying all kinds of so-called remedies, and being under doctor's treatment, I thought of Clarke's Blood Mixture, having tried it years ago with success for a similar complaint. After taking one bottle it seemed to drive them out, and after the second bottle I found a decided improvement, and continuing with your Mixture I can honestly say I am quite cured."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.
